Dear John

I am very pleased that you are launching a new wave of the World Management Survey in the UK to look at the impact of management on firm performance. For monetary policy makers like me, understanding the supply capacity of the economy is an important part of our approach to targeting inflation, and so we have a keen interest in new research that enhances our understanding of productivity. This project should make a significant contribution to our understanding of these issues. I am happy for you to mention our support when you contact firms in the UK.

Yours sincerely

Dave Ramsden
